Speed Bonny Boat to the Isles next year

Plans announced for the 2014
Clan MacMillan International
Gathering on Scotland's Outer
Hebrides 21st - 27th June

*Otter sculpture at the harbour on the Isle of Barra
waits to welcome the ferry arriving from Eriskay*

Clan MacMillan will travel to the Outer Hebrides in the week preceding the 700th Anniversary celebrations of the Battle of Bannockburn, for an International Gathering based on the island of Benbecula. As well as events there, and on the connected islands of North and South Uist, there will be day-trips to Harris & Lewis in the north, and to Barra in the south.

The chief's family are inviting the clan to Finlaystone the day before departure for the isles. Participants will be able to tour the famous woods and gardens, visit the Clan Centre, and enjoy an afternoon and evening of festivities, including mini-Highland Games and a B-B-Q.

The MacMillans' associations with the Hebrides go back to the very foundations of the clan. MS1467 tells us that Gilchrist An Gillemaol's grandfather Airbertach established a dynasty in the isles; and according to Hebridean traditions, St Catan, whom our ancestors especially venerated, was buried on the isle of Lewis. Some of the earliest MacMillan priests on record served in the isles. Sir John McMoylane was a chaplain on Iona in 1542, when Sir Fingon Makmulane was Rector of Benbecula ("Sir" means Dominus/Master for an MA degree).

Rev. Fingon went on to become the Dean of Mull in 1573. When the Bishop of the Isles made a visitation in 1626, Niniane MacMillan was an incumbent on Mull, and Donald MacMillan ("ane verie auld man") was Minister of Benbecula and the Uists.

For more about MacMillans on the isles, see the article in the December 2012 Magazine about Father John Macmillan, the Bard of Barra; and the article in the June 2012 Newsletter by Angus Macmillan, Oxford, whose great-grandfather was from Griminish on Benbecula.

CTS will be holding an Investiture Service in one of the local churches during the gathering.

Another Angus Macmillan (Bornish, S. Uist) is Chairman of Stòras Uibhist, the Community Company that now owns most of the islands of Benbecula, S. Uist, and Eriskay; and his Vice-Chairman is John Macmillan. One of the projects undertaken by Stòras Uibhist is the restoration of the Askernish Golf Course which was laid out by the famous Old Tom Morris in 1891, but abandoned in the 1920s: www.askernishgolfclub.com.

Stòras Uibhist manage some of the best loch and river fishing in Scotland, while the Hebrides are well-known for the quality of their seafood; so a visit to the islands is both a visual and a culinary treat. One of the highlights of the gathering will be a banquet featuring the best of the local cuisine.

The gathering will also include a cèilidh organised by Ceòlas, the South Uist music and dance summer school. Though it focuses on Hebridean tradition, Ceòlas has a strong Cape Breton dimension, and celebrates cultural links between music, song and dance across the Atlantic. See their website: www.ceolas.co.uk.

The base for the gathering will be the Isle of Benbecula House Hotel, which is offering Clan MacMillan a special rate for the week (see details later in this newsletter). Participants must make their own bookings there or elsewhere - and cheaper hotels, inns and B&Bs are listed on the Accommodation Information page.

Though the Clan Centre is organizing a bus to take participants from the vicinity of Finlaystone to the isles and back, for those who prefer to travel independently, contact details for companies providing ferries and flights - including a direct service from Glasgow International Airport to Benbecula - can also be found elsewhere in this newsletter.

Editorial

Chief George and I have been working hard over recent months on the plans for the Hebridean Homecoming outlined elsewhere. One of the problems we've had is deciding about the affordability of the event; both in terms of the money you'll be asked to pay - unfortunately the Hebrides are expensive to get to and to stay in - and in terms of the time and effort we two, as the principal organisers of the gathering, can manage to devote to planning and running it.

The problem is that we no longer really have a native Clan MacMillan body to turn to for help in this, or indeed any other endeavours. Since the Glenurquhart Macmillan Society and The Clan

MacMillan Society (of Scotland) folded into Clan MacMillan International [CMI] it is the body that MacMillans over here belong to, and this newsletter is our means of communicating with them. So our overseas members will forgive me, I hope, if I appeal over your heads to MacMillans in Scotland, and particularly those in or within reach of the Central Lowlands, to rally round and offer your services to help us with the gathering; particularly with making more of the opportunities offered by the Bannockburn Anniversary weekend, after we return from the isles.

Who will step forward and organise transport for your overseas cousins - and indeed other natives - to Bannockburn; and who will volunteer to take responsibility for the staffing of the MacMillan table in the Great Clan Tent at Bannockburn (if we decide to have one - NTS have yet to announce costs & conditions)?

Who indeed is prepared to undertake the re-foundation of a Clan MacMillan body in the UK, either as a chapter of CMI - i.e. using our membership database and newsletter/magazine, so only really having to organise events - or as an entirely freestanding body? The events of the Year of Homecoming offer a great chance to attract new members to the clan societies, but without organisers to take advantage of it, it'll be a wasted opportunity.

And lest you folks overseas get too complacent about this, how about some more volunteers to help the Trustees run and raise money for the Clan Centre in the coming years.

The gathering base will be the Isle of Benbecula House Hotel where all rooms are being held for the Clan (11 twin/double & 8 single). We've arranged a group B&B rate of £90 per night for a twin/double room, and £50 per night for a single room. Contact Chrisella Peteranna by phone on 01870-603030 or email isleshotelgroup@hotmail.co.uk to take advantage of this offer (first come, first served). Evening meals will be provided by the hotel when required (2 or 3 nights) at about £20 a head. Some rooms may also be available at the same group's nearby Dark Island Hotel (different rates). For further accommodation options, see overleaf. Participants will have to reserve and pay separately for their own accommodation and all meals, other than the ceilidh buffet & banquet which will be included in the gathering packages.

For more info about the isle of Benbecula please see www.isle-of-benbecula.co.uk; for info about ferries to and between the isles, see www.calmac.co.uk; for info about flights to Benbecula from Glasgow, see www.flybe.com.

Highlights of the Provisional Programme

Finlaystone and the Clan MacMillan International Centre

The chief's historic home, and site of the Clan Centre, is just outside the picturesque village of Langbank. The estate is famous for its woods, gardens, and children's play areas. The "Eye-Opener" visitor centre houses the late Jane MacMillan's wonderful collection of dolls from around the world, as well as displays about the wildlife of the estate. Refreshments are available at the "Celtic Tree" Tearoom.

The Journey to the Isles

North Uist and Grimsay:

The monastery at Trinity Temple on North Uist (above left) - perhaps the site of Scotland's first university - was founded in the 12th century by Beathag nic Somhairlie & extended in the 14th by Ami NicRuairi. The picturesque harbour at Ceallan (above right), on Grimsay, is the centre of the local shellfish industry.

Barra and Vatersay

Harris and Lewis

South Uist

Wild horses (above left) roam the enchanting island of South Uist, which boasts a rocky and largely deserted east coast, and a flat, heavily populated west coast with vast beaches fringed with wild flower meadows - the Machair. The museum at Kildonan (above right) has fascinating displays illustrating the unique lifestyle of the still largely Gaelic-speaking population of the Outer Hebrides.

The Return to Glasgow

Bannockburn and Stirling

The statue of king Robert the Bruce (above left) dominates the battlefield at Bannockburn, where a new Visitor Centre is being built for the 2014 celebrations - which take place immediately after the Clan MacMillan Gathering. The battlefield is near the ancient castle at Stirling (above centre) which was the key to the defence of Scotland during the Wars of Independence. The portrait of General Sir Gordon MacMillan (shown above right), hangs in the Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders Museum in Stirling Castle.

Accommodation Information

The Isle of Benbecula House Hotel

The historic Isle of Benbecula House Hotel stands at the north end of what is now the causeway connecting Benbecula to South Uist, but what was previously the South Ford. The core of the current building was the old Creagorry Hotel, where Alexander Carmichael stayed when working as a Revenue Officer and collecting Gaelic prayers, poetry, songs & folklore for his Carmina Gadelica. This 19th century building replaced the original Creagorry Inn built and run by Captain Hugh Crawford, a grandson of Flora MacDonald's stepfather - who's said to have been the last man on Benbecula to "raise the devil". The hotel is now owned by the Peteranna family - descendants of an Italian carpenter on a Portuguese ship that was wrecked off Barra in the late 18th century - who also run the larger and more modern Dark Island Hotel in nearby Liniclate, and the Borrodale Hotel on South Uist.

Other accommodation on Benbecula and the nearby Uists as listed in 2013

Distances given in brackets are from the Isle of Benbecula House Hotel; the star ratings are Scottish Tourist Board for stated category (i.e. Hotel, Guest House, B&B). Bed & Breakfast rates are per person per night unless otherwise stated - and are for 2013, so when booking ask about 2014 prices. There are more B&Bs, and one or two other hotels, further away on North and South Uist, particularly in or near to the port towns of Lochmaddy and Lochboisdale. Please note, the clan bus will only pick up and put down at the Isle of Benbecula House Hotel.

Peter Pool was elected President of the Society at its AGM on 17 February, succeeding Jim McMillan who became the Vice President and continues to edit their excellent Newsletter. In Memoriam:

We're sad to report the passing on the 3rd April 2013 of Muriel Diver MacMillan (born 1913), the wife of the late Hugh P. MacMillan - whose death we had to report in the December issue of the CMI Magazine. Muriel will be remembered with particular affection by the many who enjoyed the generous hospitality she and Hugh extended to all.

The New Zealand Society suffered the loss on 1st February 2013 of Pamela Dorothy Marsden McMillan, the wife of Duncan McMillan, the Wellington Representative on the Committee of the Society. As their Newsletter reports, there was a large clan turnout to celebrate Pam's life in St Margaret's Church, Silverstream, on the 7th of February:

Supporting Duncan, his son James, daughter Heather and Pam's 90 year old father, Bob Marsden, were clan members Avon from Auckland, Robert & Betty from Levin, Jim and Marilyn from Paraparaumu and Laurie & Maureen Bond from Wellington. At the request of Duncan, Robert, who was also a pall bearer, gave a tribute on our behalf, Jim placed the MacMillan tartan on the casket at the conclusion of the toasts and Avon, with five other clansmen from greater Wellington, formed a guard of honour with a six sword salute, as the casket was piped from the church by Laurie.

Another particularly sad loss for the clan is Willie Logan McMillan, who died during the night of 12-13 February three days short of her 93rd birthday. "Willie Mac" was the much-loved widow of Dr Jim McMillan, an early leader of the Appalachian Branch of the clan, and President of the CMSNA in 1990-91. She was a very generous benefactor of the Clan Centre in Scotland, and the most loyal supporter of her branch of the clan right to the end. She accompanied her son Ed to as many events as possible, the last being the Stone Mountain Highland Games in October of last year where Graeme photographed her with Ed and his brother Jim (see the December 2013 issue of the CMI Magazine).

Clan MacMillan's 'Community of the Tonsured Servant' (CTS)

CTS was founded in 1995: Supporting the Clan MacMillan International Centre (CMIC) at Finlaystone, Scotland, and providing educational materials and events for Clan MacMillan and Sept members around the world.

There will be a CTS Investiture Service in conjunction with the Clan MacMillan International Gathering during Homecoming Scotland 2014. It will be held in the Griminish Church of Scotland, Griminish, Benbecula in the Outer Hebrides on Thursday afternoon, 26 June 2014. The ancient church of Benbecula was united to South Uist and Barra in or before the sixteenth century. The earliest church was most probably Teampull Chaluimchille (Columba's Temple) whose ruins still remain on the easterly outskirts of the village of Balivanich (Township of the Monk).

The present Church was built in Griminish, in the centre of Benbecula, in 1886. Today, Benbecula Parish Church of Scotland endeavours to continue the Christian witness and service started in this island by members of Columba's community from Iona in the sixth and seventh centuries. Come and soak up the spirit of Columba! We already have two candidates for CTS membership. Lets make it more.

W. Dugal MacMillan, CTS, a Past President of Clan MacMillan Society of North America (CMSNA), has handed over his duties as Almoner for CTS to Anne Neuman, a Past President of CMSNA, at my request. Dugal resigned in January 2013. He has been Almoner of CTS since its founding in 1995. He has done an admirable job for 17 years and we are very grateful for his faithful and always correct service to CTS and Clan MacMillan. Thank you Dugal, and welcome to Anne who has so willingly taken over the task of Almoner for CTS, along with her duties as President of Glengarry and Ottawa Valley Branch of Clan MacMillan.

News of CTS Members: Congratulations to Ishtar Bell Hunter, CTS, granddaughter of Robert G. Bell, CTS, of North Carolina, USA, who graduated from Waikato University, NZ with a BA degree.

Grants by CTS to CMIC: CTS has granted $1,500USD to CMIC to date in 2013. The total CTS grant to CMIC is $40,143USD since 1996 averaging $2,230USD per year over the last 18 years.
